The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Your Right to Know

A great concern exists in news media circles for the continuous whittling away of the public's right to know.

The Supreme Court has sponsored opinions that are all the more frightening because citizens may now commit acts with impunity that were considered criminal a decade ago.

In short, you are free to commit acts of a criminal nature but you are not allowed to know as much about such acts as heretofore.

This ironic situation, it is hoped, will not continue to grow. As the new character of the Supreme Court begins to develop, it may be in the shape of the sort of Constitutional rights into which moral integrity is again established.

While the Constitution, in its entirety, was not the subject of a newsmen's meeting this week in Oakland, your right to know was — and there were those present who are dedicated to the belief that your Constitutional rights are being eroded in proportion to the degree your right to know how the public's business is being reduced.

Every newsman will testify that if there is nothing dishonest going on, the public's business shouldn't be conducted in secret. And there are few exceptions to that idea.

But at Oakland, leaders of the working press of the state met Tuesday to discuss problems of secrecy that seem to be growing in many governmental agencies.

It was the general meeting of the California Freedom of Information Committee (CFI) is sponsored by press and broadcasters' organizations throughout the state.

One of the matters before the group was a refinement of the State's Brown Act.

The Act is second only to the Constitution in keeping the doors open to knowledge of what your government is doing.

The changes recommended in the Ralph M. Brown Act were small and mostly for clearing up some muddy language. The Act itself is unchanged.

A simple example of how closed meetings can be used to the advantage of those who would close them was on Jan. 6 when a member of the Alameda County Supervisors attempted to get himself elected chairman — in secret.

Newsman got wind of the caper and got the meeting out in the open. It then developed, that the new chairman — in order to get himself elected — had to second his own nomination and vote for himself. But not before he tried to have the open election conducted by secret ballot.

The Brown Act has been effective in California in helping to keep the line of communication open to the public. Without the law, complete bossism undoubtedly would be the rule rather than the exception.

The Brown Act spells it out in language almost as attractive as that of the Constitution.

It reads: Section 54950. In enacting this chapter, the Legislature finds and declares that the public commissions, boards and councils and the other public agencies in this state exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business. It is the intent of the law that their actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly.

"The people of this State do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them.

"The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is good for them not to know.

"The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created."

It is straightforward language. It is easy to understand the intent of the Legislature.

Yet, there are those who would abrogate this determination.

One of those groups is the American Bar Association which ordered that police, attorneys, and courts, may not reveal certain information about those charged with committing a criminal act. It's public business. It's the public's right to know. Regardless of how high the ideas of the determination, it deprives the public of its right.

It underlays the proposition with which this article was opened. It is saying that a person charged with a criminal act has more rights to protection than the public, against whom the crime was committed, has a right to know.

Kempton St. Students Learn, Run Business

Clay products, greeting cards, stationery, yard sticks and other items made by Kempton Street School summer session students are on sale weekday mornings at booths in the South Spring Valley Shopping Center.

Miss Deva Claridge, Mrs. Mary Menzies and Mrs. Ardis Miller, Kempton teachers, helped children organize a "corporation," elect officers and a board of directors, issue stock, and develop a needed production, sales and advertising organization.

According to Stan King, summer assistant, the activity gives children a basic experience in economic education and also offers an opportunity for practical application of math and oral and written language.

Children are "manufacturing" flower pots, piggy banks, pot holders and other items. They also make popcorn and lemonade.

Proceeds from the sales will finance the weekly payroll and provide a return for the initial investment.

Shares were purchased by children at 25c per share. Each worker receives 5c per day for a two-week period if the enterprise proves to be profitable.

Parents are reminded that school will reopen on September 15. Enrollment for pupils new to the district starts September 2, Davis said.

Robert Davis, director of the summer session, said parents are urged to visit their youngsters' classes for culminating activities.

He said the 1969 summer school has an enrollment of 3840 elementary pupils and 1269 junior high pupils. One hundred and seventy-one teachers staff the program.

Parents are reminded that school will reopen on September 15. Enrollment for pupils new to the district starts September 2, Davis said.

UP AND AWAY . . . is the way on Head Start youngsters described his experience Saturday as Pacific Southwest Airlines hosted a round-trip flight to Los Angeles for ten Lemon Grove pre-schoolers enrolled in the program. Four adults and a photographer also attended to supervise the children.

Reaction Mixed To Burn Ban

The first weeks of restricted open burning in San Diego County have drawn both brickbats and bouquets from the public, usually in the same mail. No record has been kept of the score.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health and air pollution control officer for the San Diego Air Pollution Control District, said that most of the calls he has received have been from persons wanting clarification or interpretation of the new rules.

He pointed out that there may be "bugs" in the operation of the regulations. "Whenever new rules go into effect which involve a large part of the population and many different agencies, there are snags at the outset," he said.

"These problems should be resolved after we have lived with the regulations for awhile and the public understands how they work."

"Cooperation from fire control agencies throughout the county has been encouraging," Dr. Askew said.

"Chief Samuel N. Simpson, Fire Marshall of the City of San Diego Fire Department, and Chief Ranger Frank Crossfield of the California Division of Forestry have done everything possible to make the new regulations work effectively in the metropolitan area and the unincorporated areas not served by fire protection districts.

"We have already seen or are meeting with fire control personnel in Fallbrook, Oceanview, Vista, San Marcos, Escondido, Carlsbad, Encinitas, El Cajon, La Mesa, National City, Chula Vista, Coronado and Del Mar.

"Fire departments or fire protection districts are also prepared to cooperate in restricting open burning for air pollution control in Bonita, Sunnyside, Bostonia, Cardiff, Crest, Grossmont-Mt. Helix, Imperial Beach, La Costa Country Club, Lakeside, Lemon Grove, Leucadia, the Lower Sweetwater and Montgomery areas, Poway, Rancho Santa Fe, Santee, Solana Beach, Spring Valley and Woodlawn Park. This covers every fire control agency within the San Diego Air Basin."

Dr. Askew said that although open burning is restricted under the county's air pollution control regulations, the law allows for certain exceptions as follows:

1. To instruct public or industrial employees in methods of fighting fire.

2. For the prevention of a fire hazard when there is no other practical means of disposal available.

3. To dispose of the direct waste products of an agricultural operation.

Local Head Start Youths Fly High

Head Start youngsters from Lemon Grove's Golden Ave. school undertook one of the tastier features of the pre-school program over the weekend.

Ten of the youngsters embarked on a round-trip flight to Los Angeles on a PSA jet, a trip that included a look at the Los Angeles International Airport and a free snack.

The airline donated the spaces as part of a cooperative effort with the Head Start program.

Attending the field-trip were Sammy Caranhan, Alison Diaz, Steven Lindsay, Jason Maltese, Donald Metcalfe, Heather Norquist, Ronald Persons, John Rich, Gregory Steorts and Jeffrey Steorts.

Head Start, a preschool program funded by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity, works with Pacific Southwest Airlines in planning the flights. The airline donates 15 spaces to the program every Saturday for a round-trip to Los Angeles.

There they toured the Air Force and were served a complimentary snack by Host International, Inc. while waiting for the flight to Los Angeles. They returned to San Diego on an afternoon flight.

Louis Poluzzi, director of the local program, also attended and supervised the kids, along with Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. Metcalfe and Mrs. Allen.

Nearly 1,000 children and adults have made the trip since the program was inaugurated in late July, 1967. Flights will continue until further notice, according to a PSA official.

For most of the children and many of the supervising adults, the air trip is a "first."

The PSA flights were arranged as one way of providing new experiences for the Head Start child. The philosophy of the Head Start program is to provide these children with the experiences that may be necessary for them to compete in the classroom, when they reach school age, with children who have had greater opportunities.

Social adjustment, verbalization, and working with new objects and ideas are stressed in the classroom. Nutrition, health services, and social services to the families are included in each Head Start program.

To help broaden the child's knowledge of the community and the world, field trips are planned. The PSA flights program is one of the most ambitious of these.

Arrangements for the flights were made through Jeffrey S. Butler, Director of Public Relations, Pacific Southwest Airlines. "We at PSA look forward to giving large numbers of children in Head Start an air travel experience," he said.

Head Start served 2,500 children in San Diego in 1967.

Grossmont Teachers Ask Raise

Grossmont High School trustees heard a request last week by teachers to virtually double the tax levy in order to finance substantial pay increases for the coming year.

Teachers also called for what they described as a "massive and sustained education program to tell the people the condition of the district."

The three trustees who attended the special morning-long meeting postponed any action until at least this week.

Attending were George Birch, Mrs. Portia Goode and

Supervisors To Make 'Last Ditch' Offer For Sweetwater Lake

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — This county is going to make a sort of last resort offer to the California-American Water Company for a lease on the land and water of Sweetwater Reservoir.

Supervisor Henry A. Boney, who has been working unsuccessfully on the acquisition of the lake for three years, said he hopes the company will agree to the proposed lease in some form.

Sweetwater is not being used as a water supply reservoir because of a bypass pipeline from the San Diego Aqueduct, but is held as a standby source of water.

The county, Boney said, would develop water and land recreation facilities in what could be one of the largest public parks of its kind in, at least, California.

The plan was for the county to develop a park on the portions of the lake property where urban development is banned from water-supply vicinity drainage.

Boney's proposal does not envision any payment to the company because of the enhancement a park would give to the rest of the company holdings.

Sweetwater Regional Park would serve a wide area. Naturally, the primary service areas would be Lemon Grove-Spring Valley and Chula Vista-National City.

Sweetwater could become the only major recreational facility in the south county area.

Its total area would be about 700 acres including the lake.

Rex Spross Found Guilty In 'Blind Bob' Slaying

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The murder trial of Rex Arthur Spross, 30, Spring Valley, ended rapidly Thursday when a Superior Court jury took only 30 minutes to return a verdict of life imprisonment.

The same jury of eight men and four women had previously spent a month hearing evidence and seven hours in deliberation in finding the truck driver guilty of first degree murder in the killing of Robert "Blind Bob" Anderson, 40, Chula Vista.

The final task of choosing between life in prison or execution took less than one day. Defense Attorney Louis S. Katz said after the verdict that he was somewhat surprised, but said he thought the verdict was proper.

Superior Court Judge Howard B. Turrentine set Aug. 13 as the date of sentencing and for any motions by Katz for a new trial.

Spross' wife, Bonnie, wept quietly in the courtroom as the verdict was delivered.

Anderson and his mother, Mary, operated a news stand in Chula Vista for 22 years before Blind Bob was killed on Dec. 13.

The murder was committed with such violence that the top of the blind man's head was entirely caved in but no weapon was ever located.

Spross was not arrested until January 10. Chula Vista Detective Billy Cox said that Mrs. Anderson did not report for some days that she and her son had loaned Spross $700 in October and had refused him a $1000 loan later in the month.

The prosecution used a single latent fingerprint in blood on a cigar box found at the slaying scene to good effect. The print was made by Spross, although Spross said, in effect, that it could have been made several days earlier when he claimed he helped Anderson stop a nosebleed.

Spross had claimed that Anderson helped him sell about $86,000 in stolen cigarettes over a three-year period two years ago.

He also claimed that a mysterious Mexican was trying to get back $25,000 that had been left with Anderson to purchase the cigarettes.

Money Aid Not Answer To Asian Problems Says S.D. Newsman

Kip Cooper, military editor for the San Diego Union, told the Lemon Grove Rotary club Monday that much of the foreign aid poured into the middle and far east is going down a "bottomless pit."

"We need to do more things for the people who labor to live," he said. "Our aid makes the rich richer and little of it trickles down to the poor."

Cooper was bureau chief for Copley News Service in Tokyo for several years. He noted that the Japanese gave little in money to those on its aid programs. "Japanese give rice seed and help with planting while the U. S. gives money. The Japanese are admired and respected. Americans are ridiculed," he said.

The same thing is happening in Vietnam, he said. There, Communists operate with the peasants at the peasant's level. U. S. must do it this way if we expect to combat Communist activity in Vietnam," he explained. Cooper's speech was warmly received.

Tom Clayton, presided.

Bill Signed Authorizing Marine Parks

Governor Ronald Reagan has signed into law, a bill by Assemblyman John Stull creating underwater marine parks in California.

The plan has been hailed by conservationists organizations as landmark legislation to aid in preserving outstanding aquatic areas in California for future generations.

Stull said the responsibility of locating marine preserves would be assigned to the California Park Commission and areas would be developed based on their scenic, ecological, geological and natural scientific values.

Stull said certain areas would be preserved in their natural state while other areas would be developed for recreational use.

The three areas now under consideration for development as underwater parks are Penasquitos Lagoon-Submarine Canyon sector along the San Diego coastline, Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park off the Monterey coast and Salt Point north of San Francisco in Marin County.

LG Fire Report

The Lemon Grove Fire Department, during the week of July 14-21, answered four fire calls, two with children and matches as the possible cause. The week's rundown:

July 17 at 3:29 a.m., a faulty alarm system at Monte Vista Lodge.

July 18, and three calls: At 11:49 a.m. firemen responded to a fire call at 7989 Imperial ave. Children and matches was the possible cause for the loss of a small shed being totally destroyed, the shed belonging to the McAlpine Construction Co.; at 6:17 p.m. a 1/4 acre grass fire at 3821 Costa Bella, possibly started by children and matches, with no damage reported; and at 9:10 p.m. a car fire at 7606 Broadway, the car, belonging to Looney Service Station, damaged in the amount of $150. Cause of the blaze was leaking gasoline under the hood.

No rescue runs were reported for the week.

Grossmont Trustees Up Pay Raise Ante

College trustees, meeting for the first time with their new makeup, approved a pay raise for teachers of 7 per cent.

The board included three new members and voted an additional 1.5 per cent increase to the already approved 5.5 per cent pay hike.

Mrs. Portia Goode, a hold-over member of the board, was elected president during the organizational meeting.

Taking office was Karl Tuttle, William Faulstich and Paul Epler. They filled seats vacated by Rexford Hall, Robert Dryden and Palmer Svalstad. Hall and Dryden did not seek re-election and Svalstad was a candidate only for the Grossmont High School District Board of Trustees.

Last year's pay scale for the Grossmont College instructors ranged from a beginning level to $7,347 to $14,673 a year. The 5.5 per cent pay raise would have increased those figures to range from $7,751 to $15,479.

College officials also disclosed that the operating fund tax levy will rise but it won't go up as much as was predicted earlier during budget discussions.

College President Robert N. Burnham said the assessed valuation of the district increased by 11 per cent instead of the anticipated 5 per cent.

Review Notes 21st Birthday

It's our 21st birthday. The Lemon Grove Review begins publishing its 22nd volume with this issue.

The newspaper, an offshoot from a La Mesa publication, first breathed life in 1948.

Lemon Grove then had a population of less than 6,000; few schools, practically no paved roads and a business district centered at the intersection of Imperial and Broadway.

Growth here has mushroomed since then. We like to feel that the newspaper has kept pace.

Thieves Strike Bauer Plymouth

Thieves apparently broke in to Bob Bauer Plymouth on 7010 Broadway in Lemon Grove July 13, according to reports from the Sheriff's Office.

Leland Wooley of San Diego, reported that an estimated $175 of property was missing, including a set of golf clubs and various other items.

WITNESS — Spring Valley's Mike Carr, 4, enjoys one of 22,500 sandwiches consumed at the "Peace On Earth" International Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, Dodger Stadium, July 14-20. Mike attended with his parents who lives at 10707 Jamacha Blvd.

Witnesses Conclude Week Of 'Peace'

Jehovah's witnesses filed out of Dodger Stadium Sunday evening tired but happy after concluding seven days at the "Peace on Earth" International Assembly.

All in attendance that afternoon heard Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watchtower Society, deliver the main address, "The Approaching Peace of a Thousand Years." Contrasting future conditions with the lack of peace in the world today, Knorr exclaimed, "Christ's sabbatic reign for a thousand years will be a peaceful time for the earth and its inhabitants."

"It will be a time of rest from all warfare and violence of the previous six millenniums. Swords, symbolic of murderous warfare, will have been beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks for the grapevines."

The crowd applauded enthusiastically when Knorr announced, "Life will not be dull in that millennial sabbath. Those who keep peace with God will remain in the paradise earth as its eternal caretakers. Jehovah's Christian witnesses of today are joyfully preparing for that approaching peace of a thousand years."

At the close of the conference Shield Halvajian, convention manager, expressed thanks to city officials, the stadium personnel, the police and fire departments, and all of the people of Los Angeles who had helped make the assembly such a success.

It was just a week previously as baseball fans left the stadium following the Dodger game of July 13th that swarms of well-organized volunteer workers busied themselves with the overnight job of converting the stadium from a baseball park to a place of religious worship.

Now, as the throngs of happy Witnesses returned to their cars, fortified with many new publications and practical counsel to aid them in their personal Bible study and door-to-door witness work, the same group of volunteer workers again covered the area.

Now it was time for them to restore the grounds to a baseball park.

A large stage, a kitchen with over a mile of tables, huge tents and all the other convention facilities were quickly dismantled and hauled away.

Then came a thorough and final scrub of the stadium. All that was discernible as a reminder that a convention had been held were bumper stickers on thousands of home-ward-bound cars leaving Los Angeles.

Jehovah Witnesses Wind Up Assembly

From the North Shores to the South Bay area and east to El Cajon whole families of Jehovah's Witnesses including many in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley and their friends were among the 81,032 hearing Watchtower Society President N. H. Knorr speak on the subject "The Approaching Peace of a Thousand Years" Sunday at Dodger Stadium.

Knorr concluded a week-long assembly serving the Southwest and goes on to speak at a number of the other 25 international assemblies scheduled by the Watchtower Society around the world this summer and fall.

Hiking in the High Sierras is an experience all youth should have at least once. However, once you've felt and smelled the fresh, clear mountain air and enjoyed the running stream water, one is inclined to return again and again.

The Copley YMCA is sponsoring an exciting backpack trip to the High Sierras leaving from Rock Creek Station on the eastern slope. The trip is for high school boys and girls. Dan and Linda Morse, experienced backpackers, will lead this trip planned for August 20-26.

Cabrillo Monument Offers Programs

A review of visitation records at Cabrillo National Monument indicates that in the first two weeks of extended hour operation, an average of 5,000 visitors a week have enjoyed a visit to Cabrillo during the evening hours.

This is a 28% increase over night-time visitation. Extension of hours to 8 p.m. has provided additional interpretive programs and sightseeing opportunities for members of the San Diego community and visitors to the City.

Superintendent Thomas R. Tucker revealed that during the period January 1 through July 13 visitation totaled 673,000, an increase of 10% over the same period last year.

Tucker said he was particularly encouraged that records kept by his rangers indicate the attendance at interpretive programs presented in the Auditorium is up 47% over last year.

While programs at the Monument will continue to feature the primary significance of the Monument, including the Voyage of Cabrillo and a documentary on the California Gray Whale, films on other National Park Service areas will also be shown. The following programs are scheduled daily during the summer in the Auditorium:

10 a.m. Magnificence In Trust.
11 a.m. Voyage of Juan Cabrillo.
Noon The California Gray Whale.
1 p.m. Voyage of Juan Cabrillo.
2 p.m. Our Living Heritage.

4 p.m. The California Gray Whale.
5 p.m. Voyage of Juan Cabrillo.
6 p.m. Our Living Heritage.

It is anticipated that the extended hours will continue through Labor Day, and the Visitor Center and Lighthouse will be open daily from 8:30 a.m. until 7:45 p.m., with the grounds closing to the public every evening at 8 p.m.

Bullfight Lessons Open To 'Turistas'

The chance to become matador-for-a-day is the newest attraction for visitors to Tijuana, San Diego's neighbor city across the Mexican border.

A unique coastal resort is under development where bullfighting lessons are open to men, women, and children over 12 years of age at the first and only "bullfighting college" in the world.

The school is located at a new $1.5-million complex called Villa Playas, four miles west of downtown Tijuana on a modern highway and just 25 minutes south of San Diego.

Lessons in the time-honored sport will be open to amateurs and professionals. Visitors are encouraged to come and watch lessons in progress.

For beginners and amateurs, lessons begin with instructions in technique, or capework. Students learn how to use a cape and "pass" the brilliant red material at an imaginary bull.

The second step in instruction involved a real calf, or "becerra". The bullfight school uses only calves in both amateur and professional courses. Each calf will only be used two or three times before he becomes savvy to the sport and has to be retired from the school. Animals will not be killed as part of the instruction.

A calf may be purchased for private capework technique for $100.

Students not only learn technique but study the history of the ancient pageantry and drama of the sport. Professionals will regularly visit a nearby ranch to see how "el toro" is raised for his moment of glory in the bullring.

Bullfight amateurs may enroll in a two-month course, or a beginner's introductory course of five two-hour sessions. Each two-hour session costs $5. The two-month, 120-hour course costs $350.

Persons aspiring to the title of matador may choose a four or 10 month course for $600. During the 10-month session the 240-hour course will be offered on weekends only. At the end of his course, the professional will be presented as a "novillero" or beginning matador at one of Tijuana's two bullrings.

The school's professional staff is headed by matador Eduardo Solorzano, whose family has figured prominently in bullfighting. He is especially known for his appearance in Mexico City in 1945 with famed matador Manolete.

The bullfight school and rodeo ring are the first steps in what is planned as the first Mexican complex to offer a cross-section of traditional south-of-the-border life for public enjoyment.

Food Price Rise Slows

Has your food bill been going up lately? Many Americans are finding their pocketbooks pinched by high prices at the supermarket. But now there's a glimmer of good news for everyone from the gourmet to the average diner.

Increases in food prices for the second half of 1969 are expected to be slightly smaller than those for the same period last year.

Prices at your local grocery store are likely to be approximately 2.5 per cent above those of a year ago, compared with 3 per cent in 1968.

Here's a partial breakdown on supermarket prices for the remainder of the year:

... Look for higher prices for meat, fish, eggs, cereal, dairy products, bakery goods, chocolate, cocoa and soft drinks.

... Lower prices are in prospect for poultry, fruits and vegetables.

... Expect prices to remain about the same for potatoes, sugar, oils and fats.

The cost of dining out will probably increase, too, but not as much as last year. Restaurant prices are expected to rise 4 to 5%, compared with 5% in 1968.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

Just about everyone in the world is talking about "la luna" (the moon) and the men who have, this week, completed a visit to that fascinating place. As a result, words like "projectile, astronaut, vehicle, orbit, and capsule" have made a great impact upon the Spanish language.

"Hombre en la Luna" (Man on the Moon) sounds more like a title to a science-fiction novel or letter headings of a current newspaper. Considering the present role of the United States and the progress being made on moon flights, "Hombres y Mujeres en la Luna" (Men and Women on the Moon) will be commonplace within the next decade.

Some commentators have compared the recent "vuelo a la luna" (trip to the moon) with the discovery of America by "Cristobal Colon" (Christopher Columbus). A noted scientist compared the landing of man on the moon with the emergence of animal life from the sea. For most of us the feat is, without question, very unique, and will be recognized as an important stepping stone to the stars. The great accomplishment doesn't seem to impress a five-year-old who knows that a cow was the first to make the big jump.

In honor of the men and women (there must be some) who made it possible for man to walk on the moon, today's practice phrases below contain words that Spanish-speakers on earth might use to describe the activities. You can practice them by dialing 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES
Say "Que bonito satellite." (Keh boh-NEE-toh sah-TEE-lee-teh) for "What a pretty satellite."
Say "Tiene tres astronautas." (tee-EH-neh trehs ahs-troh-NAH-oo-tahs) for "It has three astronauts."

USEFUL PHRASES
Say "Vuelan a la luna." (voo-EH-lahn ah lah LOO-nah)
for "They fly to the moon."
Say "Van rapido." (VAHN RAH-pee-doh)
for "They go quickly."

OTHER PHRASES
Say "Estan en orbita." (eh-STAHN ehn OHR-bee-tah) for "They are in orbit."
Say "El sale de la capsula." (ehl SAH-leh deh lah KAH-psoo-luh) for "He leaves the capsule."

Catalina Unspoiled Available

Catalina Island — just 25 miles from San Pedro — today remains one of nature's wonderlands.

Aside from the beautiful one-square mile that goes to make up Avalon, little has changed on the rugged island since it was discovered Oct. 7, 1542 by Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo of Portugal.

Catalina Island is the second largest of a group of eight islands off the coast of Southern California. It is 22 miles in length and contains approximately 48,438 acres. The present owner of Catalina Island (aside from Avalon, which is a municipality) is Santa Catalina Island Company.

Named the "Garden Spot of the World," Catalina Island offers something for every one. Its rocky mountains provide a haven for wild goat and sheep; its valleys abound with quail and other small game; buffalo roam its plains.

Numerous natural caves and bays surrounding the mountainous island and its crystal-clear water provide a playground for scuba-divers who come to explore the many underwater gardens.

Game fish, such as the Marlin, which frolic in the channel, have brought sportsmen from all over the world to Catalina to fish.

Picturesque Avalon, with its Spanish face and palm lined streets, is a hospitable town to visit. Here there is swimming, boating, golf, horseback riding, good hotels and restaurants, and many quaint shops.

Catalina may be reached by taking the Big White Steamer, or a seaplane, from Catalina Terminals in San Pedro. For reservations and additional information, call: (213) 775-3341, or from Orange County, (714) 537-4850.

Congress Mulls Ike Cartwheel

Congressman James B. Utt was joined by two dozen colleagues in introducing bipartisan legislation to authorize an Eisenhower Silver Dollar.

The bill (H.R. 12749) would have at least 300 million clad silver dollars struck with the likeness of the late President, Dwight David Eisenhower, during the three years beginning January 1, 1970.

The Eisenhower silver dollar would be the first minting of the once-common cartwheels since 1935. It would also be the first silver and copper core dollar issued.

Eisenhower would be only the third recent President whose likeness is carried on silver coinage.

Californians Increase Tax Support

California motorists have increased their annual tax support for highway transportation by about 92 per cent during the past decade.

An analysis by the Automobile Manufacturers Association shows California state highway user revenues have risen from $546 million in 1958 to $1050 million last year.

Included are motor fuel taxes, vehicle registration fees, motor carrier and other miscellaneous user charges.

The study as reported by Charles E. Hoagland, AMA regional government relations and information representative, shows annual tax receipts from the sale of motor fuel climbing from $306 million to $586 million in the 10-year period.

Hoagland pointed out that California also provides about $608 million annually to the Federal government in automotive excise taxes.

He said that special motor carrier taxes now represent 17.6 per cent of total California state taxes.

IRS TAX ANSWERS

Q — Would I lose my exemption for my son if he earns over $600 this summer?

A — The amount of your child's earnings will not necessarily change his status as your dependent if he is under 19 at the end of the year or shows a full-time student during five months of the year.

Under either of these exceptions to the $600 rule you may continue to claim him as long as you provide more than half his support and the other tests are met.

Q — The exemption I claimed for my wife's sister is being disallowed. Is there anyone else at IRS I can talk to about this besides the agent that examined my return?

A — Notify the examiner that you do not agree with his disallowance of the exemption you claimed and request that a district conference be arranged. At this conference, your side of the story as well as the agent's will be reviewed on the basis of the facts and law involved.

If the tax in question does not exceed $2,500 for any year, no written protest is needed to obtain such a conference. The people who handle these conferences are specially trained and act independently of those examining your return. This helps assure an impartial review.

Q — I want to buy my son a shotgun so he can go hunting with me this fall. Is it against the law to give the gun since he's 16?

A — Since your son is under 18, he is not old enough to buy a rifle or shotgun under the Federal gun statutes. However, you can buy the gun for him.

Q — When I sold my house I had to pay a penalty on my mortgage because it was paid off early. Is there any deduction for that?

A — The penalty for paying off a mortgage before the due date is considered an interest charge. Include it with your other interest payments if you itemize deductions.

Q — Why do you raise the rate on the highway use tax?

A — The rate on this tax has not been raised, it is still $3.37 per 1000 pounds for trucks with taxable gross weight of over 26,000 pounds.

The weight schedule, however, was revised effective July 1, 1969 to reflect the fact that trucks are now larger and carry heavier loads than previously.

September 1 is the filing deadline for trucks being used on public highways during July. Form 2290 is used to file and pay the tax.

Q — I want to get rid of some old checks and bills. What one should I keep for tax purposes?

A — Records that support items on an income tax return should be kept at least until the statute of limitations expires. Ordinarily this is 3 years from the date the return was due.

Other records such as those on property acquisitions, capital improvements and the like should be kept much longer. For example, if you sell a house you bought in the 1940's, you should have the records to establish what it cost when you acquired it, and the cost of any improvements you made.

Q — Where can I get forms and information on the Social Security tax on household help?

A — Contact your IRS district office and ask for Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Return for Household Employees. Returns covering the second quarter (April, May, June) are due July 31.

NEW VOICE — Teresa Leonides, of San Vicente in Baja California, appears pleased that she can now speak like other little girls. Her "new voice" operation project was planned by Dr. Amador Treganza, a Lemon Grove optometrist.

'New Voice' Is Gift To Mexican Youngster

A pretty, six-year old Mexican girl may some day be described as a "princess" instead of becoming one of Baja California's "culls" as the result of the Good Samaritanism of a Lemon Grove family.

The little girl is Teresa Leonides, the daughter of a farmer-family at San Vicente, about 70 miles south of Ensenada. She is spending two weeks in Lemon Grove, part of which was in Hillside hospital. The rest of the time she is recuperating in the Lemon Grove home of Drs. Amador Treganza and Lloyd Adams.

Little Teresa, until last week, could not speak and be understood. She could make guttural noises, somewhat as a trained talking dog would sound. Drs. Treganza and Adams, a married optometric team, of 7898 Broadway, arranged to have an operation by which Teresa's palate was reconditioned. A blood vessel had to be moved to vitalize the transplant. The operation was a success and Teresa was able to say "thanks" and "good day" to the photographer in understandable Spanish Thursday.

Teresa's change of fate started about five years ago. The Adams often went quail hunting in Baja California.

They were stalking birds in the vicinity of San Vicente without much success. In a field they met Teresa's father, Ysidro Leonides. He took them to a "private canyon" on his ranch dropping his farm work to be accommodating. That started the friendship.

Each year since, the Adams have visited Leonides' farm. On the first trip they found little Teresa was sleeping in a cardboard box on the dirt floor. The Adams brought a crib. Two other youngsters were born since, and they, too, have cribs.

The Leonides have profited too. They have many new furnishings for their cottage brought to them by the Adams. Although the family owns 200 acres, they are not affluent. Less than 10 is under cultivation because of the lack of water.

The success of the operation brings other problems to the family. Dr. Treganza said. Now Teresa can go to school. But the nearest school is six miles.

Papa Ysidro has horses but no wagon. The Adams now have a project of acquiring a wagon so that Papa Ysidro can make the six-mile trek and back twice a day to school.

Excitement reigns among area farmers. They have children who also want to attend school. But they have the same problem as Ysidro. No transportation. They have heard of the wagon project and are already negotiating with Ysidro to "bus" their youngsters to school and back.

"It's hard for those of us who have been spoiled by conveniences to realize just how primitive it is in that part of America so close to our homes," Dr. Treganza said.

"For example, lack of mail service. There is no way of contacting the Leonides family except by visit. There is no mail service at all."

In this story of "hands across the border" in its finest tradition must be the germ of an idea for many good projects through which these appreciative proud people can be aided.

Totaling over 5 million tons, worth more than $275 million, California's tomato production led the nation and outranked the next most valuable crop, cotton, by nearly $60 million. Some two-thirds of the total crop is of the canning varieties.

Monarch Hoopsters Remain In First

By SCOTT McGAUGH

Monte Vista's summer basketball contingent remained in sole position of first place at the end of last week's battle with a 7-1 mark.

The Monarchs took on Mar Vista in a wild game but came out on top to run their winning streak to six straight after dropping the summer opener.

Monte Vista then did battle with a fellow Grossmont League squad from Helix but manhandled the Highlanders in chalking up 81 points for their seventh win in eight outings.

The Monarchs were stunned by Mar Vista's torrid shooting but rebounded by the end of the half for the win.

The Highlanders, thought to be the Monarch's chief contenders for the Grossmont League crown next year, never came close as the Monarchs showed the Highlanders everything they had.

With a 7-1 record, the Monarchs have now passed the halfway mark in their 13-game schedule which will end in the first week of August.

In baseball, the Monarchs made the playoffs but lost in the second round to Hoover.

Monte Vista squeaked by Patrick Henry's Patriots in ten innings, 8-7, but were bombed by Hoover 10-1.

The horsehiders of the Monarchy concluded their summer league with a 10-5 mark while they were 7-7 in league play this year.

Dougherty Wins Pair In All-comers

Recent Mount Miguel High School graduate Steve Dougherty was a double winner Saturday in the All-Comers track meet at San Diego State.

Dougherty, one of the top weightmen in the county over the county over the recently-completed prep track season, showed his class by tossing the heavier college weights to marks of 48-8 (shot) and 135-7 (discus).

The Stanford-bound senior had marks of 60-3 1/4 and 172 feet, eight inches with lighter weights during the high school season. Both stood as school records and county bests until junior teammate Billy Joe Winchester shattered the marks.

Dougherty's 48-8 with the 16-pound shot is a good effort, judging by previous standards. The usual drop-off from high-school distance is 10 feet or more, depending upon the characteristics and size of the thrower.

This would mean Dougherty's toss is equivalent, at least, to a near 60-foot toss with the high school iron.

The discus distances fluctuate even more, but a 25-foot drop off in performance is standard and 40-foot drop-offs are not unheard of.

Helix High School's Robin Schultz was another local winner, as he romped off with the high school mile competition in 4:38.6. Schultz is normally a two-miler.

Youth Ticket Plan For Charger Fans

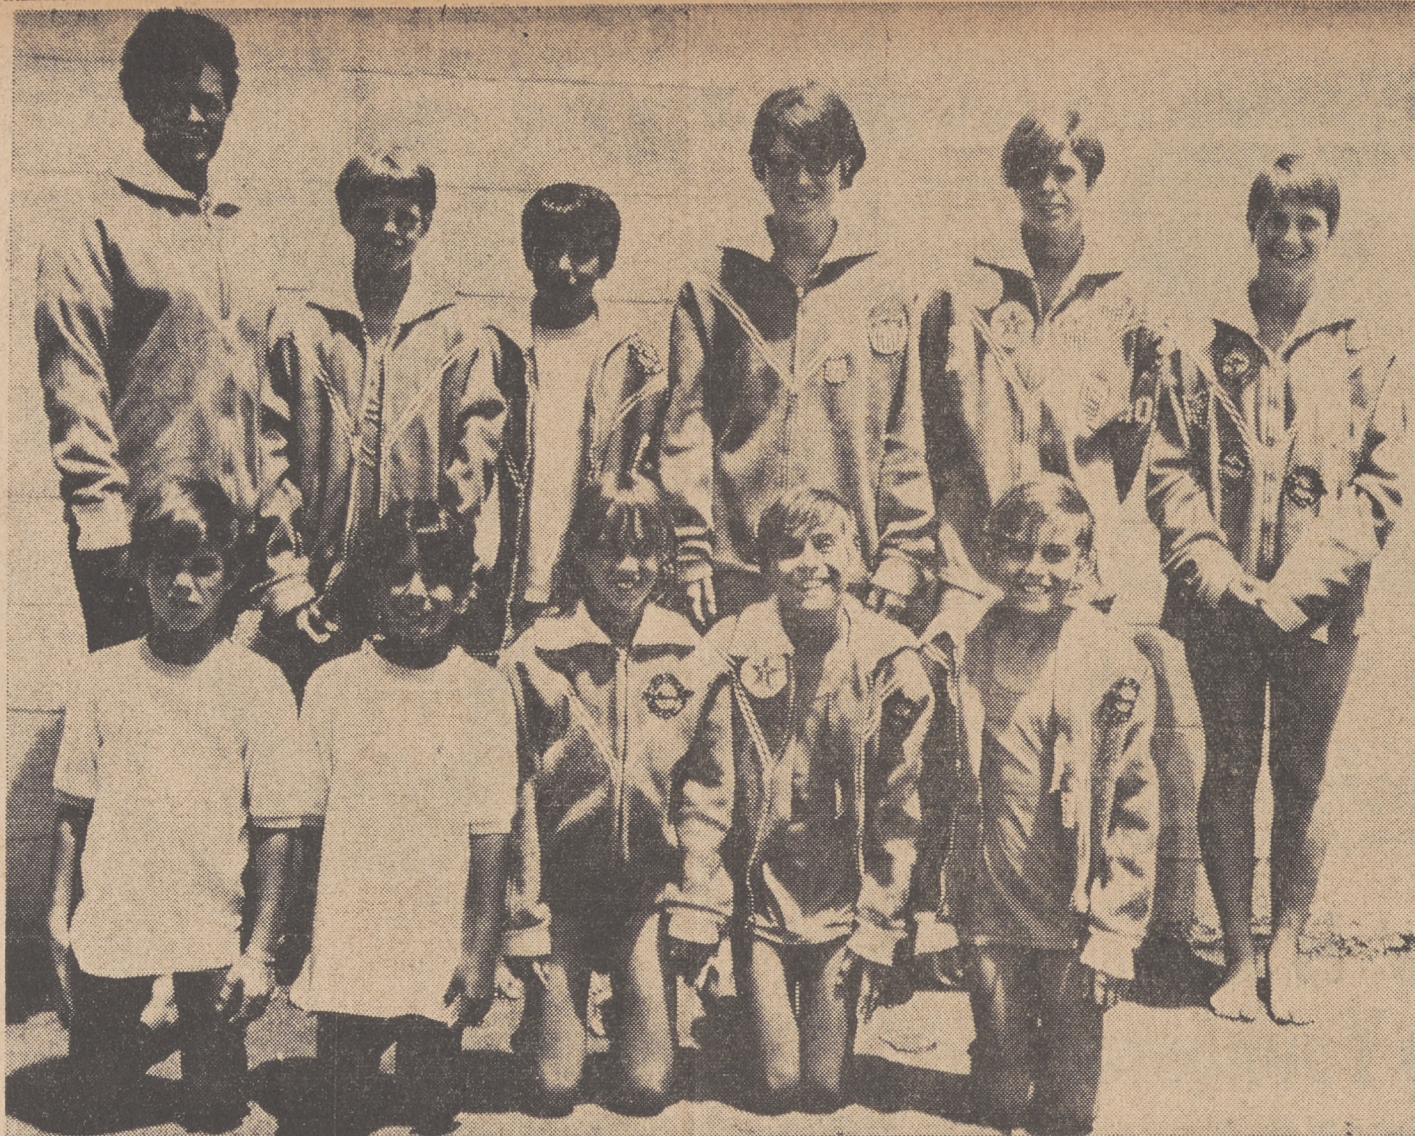

San Diego Charger "Youth Seats" will be available for the 1969 season at San Diego Stadium under a new policy announced by Business Manager Irv Kaze.

Youngsters, 16 and under, will be admitted for $1.50 to a special bleacher section located under the scoreboard. There will be 1,600 seats available until the end of baseball season when another 1,800 will be installed.

Adults may sit in the new section only if accompanied by a youngster. They will be charged the regular admission price of $2.50.

As in the past, there will be 3,500 general admission seats available at every game. Youth seats and general admission tickets will be sold only on game days and only at San Diego Stadium.

The youth program will begin with the Chargers' pre-season opener against the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts on Saturday night, Aug. 2.

LOCAL SWIMMERS — Lemon Grove and Spring Valley swimmers make up one-third of the La Mesa Swim team hosting the weekend's La Mesa Invitational. Included are (top row) Coach Daisy Noruga, Cathy White, Cindy Martinez, Ruth Carnes, Sandy White and Lisa White.

Also (bottom) Erin McLaughlin, Henry Noriega, Patty Martinez, Sobriquet and Shawn Noriega. Absent were Lesley and Diane Carlson, Kris Lubic and Shannon McLaughlin.

All the All-Star games are to be played at the Bobby Sox (Bancroft School, Spring Valley) Field, August 11-16. Spring Valley Merchants are the 1969 winners of the Minor section and Shaieb Realty winners of the Majors.

La Mesa Swimfest Features Top Locals

Local swim talent will be up against the best this weekend as the La Mesa Swim Assn. hosts the annual La Mesa Invitational age-group and open swim meet.

The event is scheduled Saturday and Sunday at the La Mesa Municipal Pool, starting at 9 a.m. each day.

Highlight of the event will be the battle for team honors, with the strong Santa Clara swim club expected to take top honors.

More than two dozen teams have entered the meet, including strong local groups such as Coronado Navy, Chula Vista Aquatic Assn. and the host team, La Mesa.

Besides Santa Clara, the meet is attracting the good Bakersfield Swim Team.

Many nationally-ranked AAU age-group swimmers will be competing for the 65-member Santa Clara team, always a powerhouse.

A strong local contingent will be headed by standouts Sonja Proviznek, Larry Farar, Lisa Goodwin and Mike Nelson, all of La Mesa; Suzy DeFay and Mike Stamm of Coronado and Sandra Keska of CVAA.

La Mesa team will enter about 40 competitors.

The meet is sanctioned by the Pacific Southwest branch of the AAU.

Lower-priced Tickets Offered By Padres

Box and reserved-seat purchasers at San Diego Padre games will now get the benefit of the same reduced ticket price policy as General Admission patrons, it was announced by President E. J. Bavasi.

Youngsters 14 and under, members of the Military, Senior Citizens and Ladies Night patrons will all get a dollar off regular prices on all ticket purchases at the Stadium on the day of the game.

Heretofore they were admitted for fifty cents, but only to the $1.50 General Admission area.

The new price scale is part of a continuing effort by Bavasi to get more people into the Stadium to cheer his scrappy young team on to greater efforts.

"We're happy to do something we should have done before," said Buzzie. "After all, why penalize a fan if he wants to buy a better seat and get closer to the action where he can see and encourage the players?"

The dollar-off policy will apply to all youngsters and members of the Armed Forces at all remaining Padre games, starting with their next home date Tuesday night, August fifth, against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The dollar off price for Ladies will first be extended Wednesday night, August 6th, against the Cardinals. There will be five other Ladies Nights this season, against the Cubs, Mets, Phillies, Reds and Giants.

Senior citizens will get a dollar off tickets of all prices every Sunday.

ROCKETS SIGN ART WILLIAMS

Art "Hambone" Williams, San Diego's favorite son in the National Basketball Association, signed his contract for the 1969-70 season, the San Diego Rockets announced today.

Williams, who will be entering his third campaign in the NBA, has been the chief Rocket playmaker the past two seasons, leading the team in assists both years.

As a rookie, the former San Diego High and San Diego City College product totalled 391 assists and last season ranked sixth in the NBA with 524 scoring aids.

Williams has scored 1,202 points over the two seasons for an 8.0 average per game. His 158 total games played is a team career mark for most games played as a Rocket.

The 6-1, 185-pound guard has been busy this summer helping coach Jack McMahon conduct basketball clinics throughout the San Diego area. Other Rockets on the clinic staff include Jim Barnett, Henry Finkel, Toby Kimball, Pat Riley and rookie hopefuls Bobby Smith, Dornie Williams and Charlie Hentz.

Barstow, Helix Trio Head All-Star Roster

The county squad for the second San Diego All-Star Basketball Classic has a definite local flavor.

Center of the team will be Mt. Miguel's towering Ken Barstow, a 6-9, 195-pounder, a second-team All-CIF pick as a junior.

Head coach of the stars is Felix Rogers of Monte Vista. Rogers has been coaching basketball at the Spring Valley school for four years.

And Helix High School will have three members on the roster, including Bruce Mensor, a first team All-CIF selection.

The game is scheduled Friday night, August 8, at Grossmont College. Sponsored by the Breitbard Athletic Foundation, the game brings together the best graduating seniors from the City and County schools.

Aside from Mensor, Rogers can call upon two third team All-CIF choices — Gene Chaffin (6-7) of Orange Glen and Mike Millar (5-10) of Coronado. Chaffin averaged 19.6 points per game this season and was an All-Tournament selection in both the Elks and Kiwanis tournaments. He was also Co-Player of the Year in the Avocado League.

Rounding out Rogers' team are Dave Unroe (6-4) and Bruce Walton (6-5) of Helix. Marty Bojorquez (6-0) of Fallbrook, Jon Chossen (6-5) of Escondido, Rodney Duck (6-6) of Sweetwater, Mike Hays (6-3) of Carlsbad and Jim Mushovic (6-2) of Coronado.

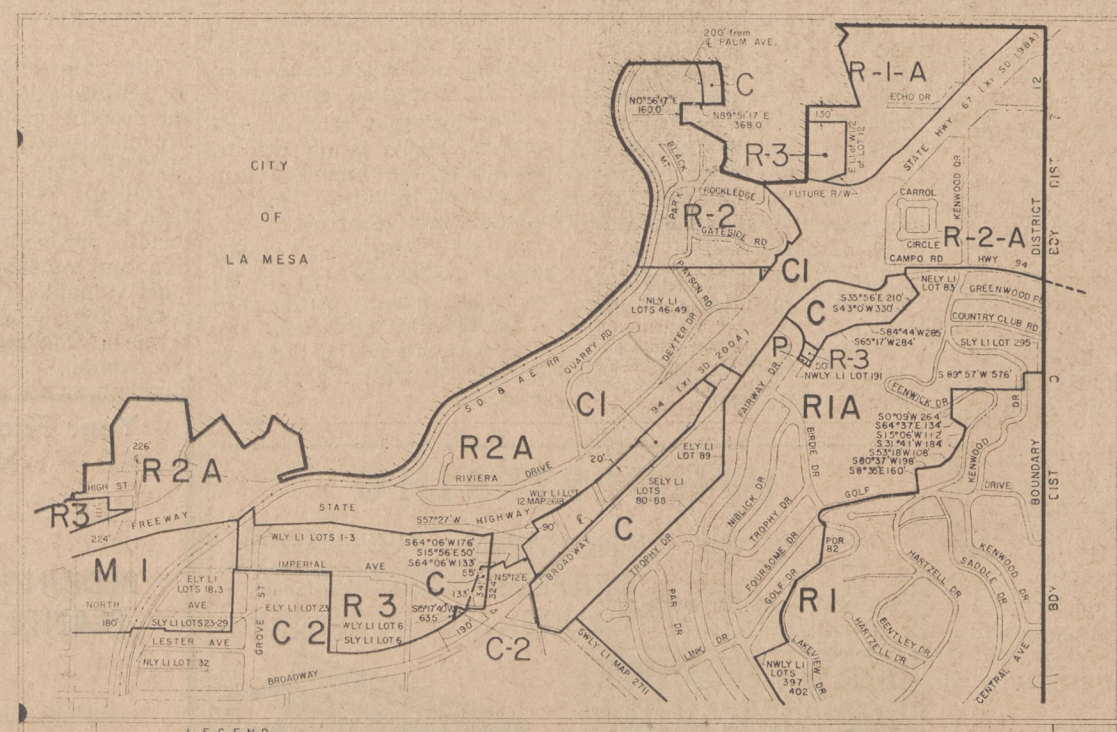

Rogers will be making his All-Star coaching debut in the Classic. He attended Humboldt State and San Diego

State Colleges and while at Humboldt was an All-League basketball selection twice and was Most Valuable Player in the Far Western Conference in 1961.

Coach Rogers was born in Sandpoint, Idaho, and attended high school there. He and his wife, Marlene, have two children.

The All-Star Classic will be part of a doubleheader starting at 7 p.m. The Summer League finals will lead off the doubleheader and the All-Star Classic will be played at 8:30 p.m.

All tickets are $2 and are available at Stanley Andrews Sporting Goods, the Hall of Champions in Balboa Park, and Crosswaite Athletic Supply as well as at Grossmont College on the night of the game.

Health Service Re-organization Authorized

Reorganization of health services in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District was authorized July 7 by the Board of Education. Planned operational changes had been under review for several months.

According to Dr. David Pascoe, associate superintendent effective in September each school will have the same or additional staff time for health services but the time will be divided between the nurse and a health clerk. Previously, nurses had performed all duties.

Nurses, who are health educators holding the health and development credential, will perform professional responsibilities, including serving as a consultant to staff in the development of health units and health curriculum. They will also work directly with students.

Health clerks will perform routine first aid and clerical tasks connected with and essential to the health services program. Health clerks hold the first aid certificate and will receive in-service training, Pascoe said.

Reorganization will call for more effective use of the nurse's time and will be a more economical operation. Intent is to achieve a quality health education program at as low a cost as possible, Pascoe said.

As before, each nurse is available for calls for emergency service, he said.

Replacement Housing Sought For Poor

Action has been taken by the California Highway Commission under a 1968 law which allows the State Department of Public Works to provide replacement housing for persons in economically depressed areas whose homes are being removed for State highway construction.

The precedent-setting action was taken by the California Highway Commission meeting in San Diego when it unanimously adopted a resolution officially declaring a part of San Ysidro in San Diego to be an economically depressed area.

The resolution is a necessary first step, according to Commission Chairman Vernon J. Cristina, before the Department of Public Works can proceed with plans to relocate persons who reside in the path of future Interstate Routes 5 and 805.

Under the provisions of AB 1072, authored by Assemblyman Leon Ralph of Los Angeles, the California Highway Commission may declare an area to be economically depressed.

Pay Raise

Joseph Famme.

If the request on the operating tax levy is met, the levy would go from the $1.50 for each $100 of assessed valuation on real property of the past year to the top ceiling of $9.98.

In addition, there is 69.2 cents in special tax levy overrides which will remain fixed.

John Salver, salary chairman for the Grossmont Union High School District Teachers Assn. and a member of the salary negotiating council, told the board that the Grossmont district tax rate is below the average for other school districts of comparable size in California.

The board has until August 4 to decide what it will do about salaries.

pressed if the area meets the following criteria:

1 — The State Highway Project is located in an area consisting primarily of housing occupied by low income individuals and family.

2 — An adequate number of replacement housing units for low income individuals and families is not available in the immediate area of the State highway project.

3 — Relocation advisory assistance will be insufficient to place a majority of such individuals and families in replacement housing in the immediate area of a State highway project.

Cristina explained that the proposed routes of Interstate 5 and 805 in the San Ysidro area will displace 278 families, most of whom are in the low income category. He said that field investigation by personnel of the Division of Highways reveal that replacement housing will not be available.

San Ysidro is located on the Mexican border. Most of the families affected by the two freeway routes are of Mexican-American descent and more than 20 percent of them were born in Mexico.

A survey by the Division of Highways in 1969 indicates that 76 percent of the families residing within the right of way of the two routes have annual incomes of less than $5,000. Many of the families are agricultural workers.

The survey shows that the median rent paid is $72 per month and the median value for single family residences is $12,200. More than 80 percent of the persons affected are tenants.

"Housing of any nature in San Diego County is difficult to obtain," Cristina told the Commissioners, "the overall vacancy rate at present is only one percent."

Cristina pointed out that low cost housing for low income families under federally supported programs is being developed in the vicinity of San Ysidro. But freeway displaces have no priority for such housing.

"Additionally, 44 percent of the families being displaced by the two freeways have four or more children. In order to satisfy the Federal requirement for decent, safe and sanitary dwellings, these families must be relocated into dwelling units having at least three bedrooms. Most such units are beyond the present financial ability of the tenants being displaced."

tural operation when the applicant's annual crop value exceeds $150.

4. To dispose of construction debris. Requests for open burning permits should be made to the fire department or protection district responsible for fire control in the area in which the person lives.

Dr. Askew said, "Anyone with a question should call us at the County of San Diego Department of Public Health."

The new restrictions on open burning became effective July 1. Most combustible refuse can no longer be burned in any open outdoor fire at elevations under 2,000 feet on the western slope of the county without special permit.

The law does not affect barbecues or home fireplaces.

Countywide Zoning Eyed

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A plan to zone all remaining unincorporated territory in this county has been presented by County Planning Director Dan Cherrier.

Cherrier recommended the creation of a new zone called the LC or Limited Control Zone that would be fairly restrictive, but yet would allow nearly all uses under special use permits.

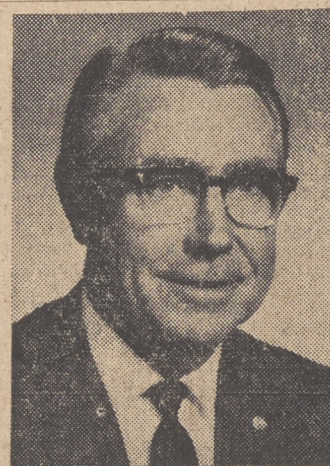

The supervisors have set a noon meeting on Aug. 4 to discuss the new zone with the county planning commission and to decide on the steps that will be needed.

The LC Zone would permit farming and service businesses as a matter of right, but would limit residential development to lots not smaller than 2½ acres without a special use permit.

The zone would be recognized as impermanent and as not being based on solid community planning. However, the LC zone might last for many years in sections of the county.

Rotary Governor Due Here Monday

Rotarians of Lemon Grove will welcome Tom W. Page, of Escondido, governor of this Rotary district, when he addresses the Rotary Club of Lemon Grove Monday noon at the Bowlero.

Earlier on Monday, Page will discuss administrative matters with Rotary President Thomas S. Clayton and other club officials.

The Lemon Grove club is one of 58 Page leads this year as governor of Rotary District 534. He is one of 298 district governors in the world serving Rotary, an international men's service organization with 635,000 members in some 13,800 clubs and 146 countries.

In speaking to local Rotarians, Page will encourage them to make Rotary membership available to as many qualified and eligible business and professional men in the community as possible.

He will ask them to view their efforts in Lemon Grove in light of today's needs, not yesterday's events.

Page will urge them to be leaders in fact as well as in reputation; to adhere to the highest business and professional ethics possible; to lead the way in rekindling hope for a better world; and to take an interest in and show concern for youth and senior citizens, for law, order, and justice, for education and recreation, and for the social welfare of the community.

Offstreet Parking Rules May Be Changed by Planners

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The county planning commission has moved to update offstreet parking requirements for both single and multiple family residences.

The commission has been aware for some time that its requirement of one parking space for each living unit is not sufficient as more and more families have two or even more cars.

The hearing will not be set for the ordinance change, however, until the planning department gets a feedback from the construction industry.

Normally, such county regulations get little attention at the time they are imposed. The problem comes when some one wants to build an apartment and finds insufficient space.

Commissioners feel the new rules are needed in most non-rural unincorporated territory such as Lemon Grove, Fallbrook, the coastal communities, Lakeside and Santee.

The department recommendation is for two offstreet spaces for each dwelling unit for one and two-family dwellings and a variable parking ration for multiple units, starting at one for studios and going to two for apartments with three or more bedrooms.

The department considered making the requirement a flat 1.5 space for each living unit, but rejected this because of the realization there is no such thing as a half of a parking space which could have been required for single-family residences.

The one-space requirement for studios or bachelor apartments is based on the assumption each would ordinarily be occupied by one person, an assumption that some bachelors might not care for.

College Plans

Drive For Artifacts

The Grossmont College Development Foundation, at their regular quarterly meeting at the college, adopted as a special project for 1969-70, a drive to secure for the college, from individual citizens, service organizations and veterans groups, gifts or loans of photographs, manuscripts, patriotic artifacts and other items of national, state and local historical interest.

Donated memorabilia will be displayed in appropriate departments of the college, with the donor suitably recognized.

Dr. Samuel S. Sloan, Lakeside, foundation president, in commenting on the foundation's action, said, "The drive for patriotic artifacts and items of historical interest is the result of a Development Foundation request to the college to indicate areas where the foundation, as a group of lay citizens, could make a direct appeal to the communities served by the college, soliciting involvement and support for its programs."

The Grossmont College Development Foundation, incorporated in 1964 as a non-profit organization, was formed to promote the general welfare of the college and to assist the college in fulfilling its role of service to the citizens of the surrounding area.

The foundation, in meeting its objective, is empowered to solicit and accept both money and property received by contribution or bequest, and to use these contributions and bequests to assist in the promotion of educational services and facilities for the benefit of students and citizens of the communities served by the college.

Haines To Go With SD Gulls

John Haines, one of the most outstanding college hockey players in the United States last season, will report to the San Diego Gulls' training camp in Victoria, British Columbia, to try out for the team.

Haines, who was captain of the Michigan Tech team for the past two seasons, an almost unprecedented honor in collegiate ranks, is a center. He also plays left wing.

He's 22 years old, 5-10 and 170 pounds. Gulls General Manager, Coach Max Mc Nab said, "I've heard many good reports on Haines. Most important is the fact that he is an excellent defensive player. The ability to check is vital to a rookie trying to break into the pro game."

What's doing?

If you ever find yourself in doubt about who to call regarding your telephone service, here's a kind of "pocket directory" I thought you'd find useful:

CALL YOUR BUSINESS OFFICE (Check the front pages of your phone book for number). To order a phone, to get a different kind of phone service, to move your service to your new home, to change or add a listing in the phone book, to apply for a telephone credit card, to ask a question about your bill, to check rates for a particular kind of service, to get an additional phone book, to get a free personal directory for often-called numbers, to get help if you've received anonymous calls, to ask about phone service for a handicapped person.

CALL REPAIR SERVICE (Check the front pages of your phone book for number). If your phone does not work, if you find a pay phone out of order.

DIAL "0" FOR OPERATOR. To place a long distance call you can't dial direct, to arrange for a conference call, to call overseas, to find out rates for long distance calls not listed in the phone book, to obtain credit for a misdialed long distance call.

A child's concept of time sometimes boggles the mind. Here's one grade schooler's offering on telephone history I thought you'd enjoy: "It took much hard work for Mr. Bell to think out how to get everything worked out so people could talk on the telephone. He had to keep thinking around-the-clock, twelve days a week."

A reminder from Smokey the Bear: a carelessly discarded match or cigarette—even a spark from a campfire—can start forest fires. So be especially careful during these dry summer months!
